

BOND ISSUE OVERSUBSCRIBED

The government's new bond issue, the first since the war, has been oversubscribed, Secretary Mellon announced recently. The total subscriptions, it is understood, aggregate something near $1,000,000,000 on an offering limited to about $500,000,000.

Preliminary reports received from the federal reserve banks show, Mr. Mellon said, that the subscriptions for the new 4 1/2 per cent. bonds of 1947-52 are well distributed over all sections.

Notwithstanding the oversubscription, he announced, investors who subscribe for $10,000 or less, or who desire to exchange their 4 1/2 per cent. Victory notes or December 15 certificates for the new bonds may still get an allotment in full on their application, if tendered promptly to the federal reserve banks.

"It is the treasury's intention," he said, "to hold down allotments on the primary offering to $500,000 or thereabouts, and with this in view the subscription books for this part of the offering closed at noon October 14. Subscription books on exchange will not close until October 21, thus giving investors who desire to turn in their Victory notes or December 15 treasury certificates a further opportunity to invest in the new bonds."

Measrs. Wilkes G. Murphy, Bennett Selph and John Brighman, Tipton county Levee commissioners, left Saturday for New Orleans to attend the American Legion convention this week.

MUST OBSERVE GAME LAWS

The hunting season for quail and migratory birds will soon be open, and I am appealing to the sportsmen and farmers and citizens generally over this county to assist me in enforcing the game and fish laws and thereby protect the game to the fullest extent.

I appointed deputies all over the state last year to enforce these laws and urged them to do so on a high plane and disregard frivolous cases. I find that a great many of these deputies were worthless, and I have weeded a great many of them out and am still weeding them. I am appointing new deputies in the place of the old ones, who were worthless and I believe this year the laws will be better enforced than ever before.

It is not the purpose of the department to persecute anybody but on the other hand, it is our intention to try to educate the people up to the high standard of protection of the game and fish, and I am instructing my deputies to enforce the law where a violator knows it is a violation and where they have no shooting license.

The birds and fish have been declared the property of the state and a license is required during the open season to shoot them, and it is distressing how small the amount of revenue was received from the sale of licenses last year. I am compelled to resort to the method of appointing secret service men in every county, and while I dislike to do this, it seems the only way that I can compel the hunters to buy their licenses and observe the law.

The county court clerk sells the licenses, and I am requesting that every man who shoots a gun go to the county court clerk and obtain a shooting license before the season opens, because, as I said before, there will be some secret service men in your county, unknown to anyone, who will enforce this law.

I am particularly anxious to protect the farmers. It has been demonstrated that the quail is one of the farmer's best assets. They destroy insects and bugs on his farm and garden, and no hunter has a right to invade his premises without the permission of the farmer himself. I have received numerous complaints from the farmers, stating that their lands were being overrun by hunters shooting promiscuously and without permission, and this year I am determined, after full warning, to enforce this law to the letter. It is wrong in principle, and there are a few sportsmen who purchase their hunting licenses and observe the law, and other men who willfully violate the game laws. It is an imposition on the man who buys his license, for he is protecting the game for himself, as well as the man who will not buy his license, and it is only fair and right to this department that every shooter who has a license to report the man whom he knows is hunting without one.

I want to see if your county this time will not furnish its quota of hunting licenses so that the department may be better equipped to enforce the law and to carry on the plan we have inaugurated.

I am making preparations to build a fish hatchery. These fish are to go to every stream in Tennessee, free, and the only thing we ask is that they be protected. It will be impossible, however, to stock these streams as long as your local law allows seining and dynamiting by outlaws.

Be a good sport, buy your licenses, observe the law and protect the game and fish.
